Something about Mosaiko Association

Mosaiko is an independent association born in 2003 headquartered in the historical center of Naples (Italy) and managed independently by its members.

The association's activities in international framework are:

- Youth Exchanges
- Meetings between youth workers and social workers, teachers, representatives of organizations and social and youth policies.
- workshops and trainings
- Projects of networking

EU no Borders

Aim and objectives:

- Promote an opportunity for international meeting between youth workers and referents active with young people, interested to exchange on their work, on issues and aspects that define this area today, on the difficulties and resources that can be put together. The common goal is to refine and share new strategies that can promote the acquisition of tools and skills that improve the possibilities and the work in this field even in those marginal and critical situations.
- Activate a reflection and comparison on the certification and validation procedures of the skills acquired aimed at greater recognition even in professional fields other than the usual ones, and the activation of guided self-assessment processes that encourage greater awareness of the skills acquired by international mobility projects.
- Collect ideas, needs and requirements, on typologies and ways in which socio-educational actions with young people (local and international) are carried out in different countries (pedagogical approach, content, type of activity, work-structures and organization, profile of the youth workers, work methodologies, etc.).
- to build relationships between youth workers, educators, teachers and trainers, organizations and territories, through the exchange of experiences, information and work practices, aimed at improving the methods and practices of socio-educational animation.
- develop alliances between social partners of different nature (links between formal and non-formal, between organizations active in the local and international context) sustainable and able to act as a flywheel to develop new employment on the territories;
- develop and implement ideas and projects, making use of alliances and available resources. Each participating organization and youth worker is the bearer of unique knowledge and strategies, from whose valorisation, sharing and exchange, can start a synergistic process oriented to the development of new half-breed practices, exportable in the next projects and/or work context.
- work together on a comparison between different social, cultural and professional contexts by increasing the own historical-cultural analysis skills, promoting critical reflections and the development of life-skills oriented to active and transformative participation in the society.
