Sport is superpower

Youth Exchange
Marrakech, Morocco
15-26 September 2022

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Sport is superpower is based on sports, outdoor education and social inclusion. Due to the extraordinary situation related to the mass migration in Europe, there is an urgent need to reduce social tensions, to raise the level of tolerance, to promote the understanding & accepting each other despite the cultural & religious differences. Our aim is with the help of sport as development tool to foster solidarity & social inclusion. One very important question might arise: how sport is related to the inclusion? We believe that sport through its universality, can transcend cultural, socioeconomic & political barriers, which is very important in an international context.

Sports are extremely powerful tools for development, especially within international communities. Moreover, sport reflects on different values & can create a bridge between different social groups forming better mutual understanding.

The answer could be reaffirmed by citing United Nations which “recognize that sport, as a tool for education, development & peace, can promote cooperation, solidarity, tolerance, understanding, social inclusion & health at the local, national & international levels.”

OBJECTIVES OF THE PROJECT

- To reach personal development which helps to understand ourselves and reflect on own behavior & behavior of others;
- Challenge the perception of the structures within our society that undermine social inclusion or foster discrimination;
- Overcoming the stereotypes of different religious;
- To raise awareness on the topic of discrimination;
- To build a broader understanding of what an inclusive attitude means & to start inter cultural & inter- religious dialogue;
- To understand the connections between culture & sport & to understand the inter cultural aspects of sport
- To raise the sense of empathy towards other people.
